Honors, cheers, pleas for aid swamp Pacquiao

By Marlon Sarmiento and Christine P. Espinoza

AMONG THE THOUSANDS THAT CHIEFED Marlon Pacquiao to his triumphant motorcycle win, Corbinio Domingo, 37, of Butuan, the man wearing a letter in the champ's chest, a gesture showing that his countrymen only's championship, and a symbol of his status as a national hero.

Earlier from the podium, a woman shouted in his name, "I'm calling you to be a champion!"

In Marikina, Pacquiao's hometown, thousands of people gathered to see him. The crowd was so large that it was difficult to see him. The crowd was so large that it was difficult to see him.

WHO officer nabbed in child abuse case

Manila

A WHO officer was arrested on suspicion of child abuse after a complaint was filed with the National Commission on the Rights of Children (NCRC) in Manila.

The NCRC received a complaint from a woman who alleged that a WHO officer had sexually abused her daughter.

The officer was arrested by the NCRC and is currently being investigated.

The NCRC is a government agency that protects the rights of children and provides support to victims of abuse.

The NCRC is also responsible for monitoring and reporting on child abuse cases.

BSP expects no steep drop in remittances

Cash sent in by workers abroad may even grow slightly this year

By Marissa C. Reyes

MANILA, May 20 (PNA) — The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) expects remittances from overseas Filipino workers (OFWs) to remain stable or grow slightly this year, despite the global economic downturn. BSP Governor Benjamin Diokno said that while there is a risk of a sharp decline, the central bank's projections for 2008 are based on the assumption that the global economy will not collapse. He noted that the Philippines has a large and growing OFW population, and that remittances have been a significant source of foreign exchange for the country. The BSP is closely monitoring the situation and will adjust its projections as more information becomes available.

Falling prices said to upset property sector

MANILA, May 20 (PNA) — The real estate sector is feeling the pinch as falling prices of construction materials and land, coupled with a slowdown in demand, are expected to dampen growth. Industry analysts warn that the sector may face a period of stagnation or even a slight decline in the coming months. However, some developers remain optimistic, citing the long-term potential of the housing market and the need for infrastructure development. The government is also working to address the issues, including providing incentives for developers and improving the regulatory environment.

Winn-Dixie stores feature a Dept. of Quality Meat and Fish. The quality is guaranteed by the fact that the meat is fresh and the fish is fresh.

From 1983 to 1990, the number of people employed in the construction industry in the United States grew by 1.5 million, or 15 percent. This growth was due to a number of factors, including the increasing demand for new housing, the expansion of the infrastructure, and the increasing use of construction materials.
